Consultant Cardiothoracic Surgeon

Training / Background

Inder Birdi is a Consultant Heart Surgeon based in Essex and London. Trained in all types of adult cardiac surgery, at the world acclaimed Papworth Hospital in Cambridge, he has considerable experience in keyhole heart surgery and is recognised internationally as a leader in this highly complex area. He has performed keyhole procedures for over 10 years and is the lead clinician in minimally invasive heart surgery at the newest specialist heart centre in the United Kingdom, the Essex Cardiothoracic Centre, where the Orwell Patient Private Cardiothoracic Unit is located.

Mr Birdi trains surgeons from all over the world specifically in the area of Keyhole Mitral Valve repair where he has developed a unique technique for the successful delivery of such a highly complex procedure. He is one of the Course Directors for the European Course in Minimally Invasive Cardiac Surgery held in Brussels, Belgium and Lyon, France. He is also the Clinical Governance and Audit Lead for the Essex Cardiothoracic Centre
